The Foreign Department

THE Guaranty Trust Company of New York—with its own banking offices in New York, London, Liverpool, Paris, and Brussels, the great commercial and financial centers of the world—offers its facilities to bankers, manufacturers, and merchants, and invites them to consult the officers of its Foreign Department regarding the most economical and practical methods of financing the foreign business that is resulting from the new position of the United States among the nations of the world.

The Foreign Department of the Guaranty Trust Company of New York is a bank complete in itself. It is administered by a Vice-President and twelve other officers, and employs about three hundred clerks in the main office alone. The staffs of the London, Liverpool, Paris, and Brussels offices number more than four hundred additional employes, and are constantly increasing. The Company also maintains an office in Buenos Aires, and has representatives and travelers in many other countries.

In addition to these offices, the Company has affiliated institutions which operate in particular spheres, and, finally, has more than one thousand correspondents through which it is in direct and constant communication with every foreign trade center of any importance. Many of these correspondents are among the leading banking institutions of the world; they have been long established in their respective localities, and are thoroughly familiar with local commercial and financial conditions.

Through this great organization of branches and correspondents, the Guaranty Trust Company of New York provides direct, safe, and prompt banking service with every part of the globe. It is prepared, by means of this direct system and through these connections, and by virtue of the strength of its foreign trade bureau, established solely to collect and codify existing information regarding trade and financial conditions, to furnish to its clients and others engaged in foreign business the best available credit information and data relating to foreign trade conditions and opportunities, and to assist them in getting in touch with foreign customers. It offers its best effort and service toward furthering and safeguarding the interests of its customers and all others engaged in international trade.

Complete Foreign Banking Service

THE Foreign Department of the Guaranty Trust Company of New York has developed its facilities until it offers a complete service for the transaction of all kinds of foreign commercial and financial business. Its energies are devoted, among other things, to the following lines:

Current Deposits and Special Accounts

The Foreign Department opens checking accounts in dollars or in foreign moneys in New York, paying interest on balances of $1,000 or more; in London, on balances of £250 or more, and in Paris on balances of Fcs. 5,000 or more. On deposits not to be withdrawn within a definite period, a higher rate of interest can generally be allowed than on checking accounts.

Purchase and Sale of Exchange

It buys checks, money orders, sight and time bills of exchange, and documentary drafts drawn on any foreign place.

It sells demand and time drafts in foreign currencies payable in the principal cities of the world. It effects transfers of funds and payments by mail or by cable to any part of the world.

Insurance Against Foreign Exchange Losses

It secures in advance, whenever practicable, definite future rates at which time drafts will be paid, thus insuring its customers against possible loss of foreign exchange on transactions for future shipment or delivery.

Circular Letters of Credit and Travelers Checks

It issues circular letters of credit in dollars, pounds sterling, and francs, available in any part of the world.

It issues a new form of Travelers check in denominations of $20, $50, and $100, equally suitable for domestic or overseas travel, and payable in all parts of the world.

Direct Drafts on Foreign Banks

It provides American banks with facilities for drawing drafts direct on its foreign offices and foreign correspondents, at the current rates of exchange.

Discounts of Commercial Paper

It discounts trade acceptances and domestic and foreign bills of exchange, drawn and indorsed or accepted by satisfactory banking institutions and commercial firms and corporations. It will also purchase such acceptances for the accounts of its customers.

Foreign Moneys Bought and Sold

It buys and sells foreign gold and silver coin, foreign bank notes, and other legal tender.

Import and Export Credits and Payments

It finances shipments of merchandise from any of the principal commercial centers of the world by establishing letters of credit in favor of the foreign shippers. It also effects payments to American manufacturers and others under export letters of credit.

Acceptances Based on Import and Export Trade

It accepts for the account of its customers time drafts issued in dollars on New York, in sterling on London, or in other foreign currencies, for the purpose of financing purchases, consignments and shipments to or from the United States. It deals in prime bankers' acceptances which arise out of the transactions involving the importation or exportation of goods, and is prepared to meet the requirements of banks and others desiring high grade, short-term investments of this character.

The Guaranty Trust Company of New York has had a longer experience in accepting drafts on behalf of clients than any other bank in New York City. Its charter has permitted it to undertake such business at a time when national banks were unable to do so. By reason of its wide experience and large facilities, therefore, this Company is enabled to be of exceptional service to its customers.

Advances and Loans on Approved Collateral

The Company makes advances in dollars, or in any foreign moneys, against approved collateral, especially bills of lading or warehouse receipts representing goods stored in the United States or abroad. It also makes advances against collections in foreign countries.

Sales and Purchases of Merchandise

Through its Merchandise Division the Company disposes of straight consignments at current market prices, and attends to purchases of commodities for clients abroad.

Foreign Agent for Governments and Others

It acts as collecting and disbursing agent for foreign Governments, municipalities, and banks, as well as for steamship, railroad, and other industrial organizations.

Deals in Foreign Securities

Bonds, notes, and treasury bills of foreign Governments and municipalities, and other acceptable foreign investment securities are bought and sold by the Company.

Accepts Custody of Securities

It receives securities for safe-keeping in New York, London, or Paris, subject to the direction of the owner; it detaches and collects coupons, crediting customers' accounts or remitting on order; advises in regard to called bonds, reorganizations, rights to subscribe, etc.

Credit Information for Customers and Correspondents

The services of its credit and commercial information department are available to our correspondents and other customers.

Personal Representatives Abroad

Representatives of the Company take frequent trips to foreign countries to study commercial and economic conditions and to make financial and statistical investigations. This personal contact adds to the Company's knowledge of foreign conditions, and enables it to provide information based on personal knowledge.

Foreign Trade Bureau

TO render specific commercial information by interview or by mail regarding the prospects for the sale of American goods abroad, the Guaranty Trust Company of New York, through its Foreign Department, has established the Foreign Trade Bureau. This Bureau maintains a corps of investigators devoted to the study of foreign commercial conditions and export trade whose services are at the disposal of those interested.

The Bureau will investigate any concern whose main office is outside of the United States, with regard to its credit standing and general commercial probity. The Bureau's records include data on more than fifty thousand firms and corporations.

It collects and collates for the use of clients and others, information on international trade conditions and opportunities. For this service it makes independent researches, using a number of sources, checking back and verifying the results of its labors. It strives to keep in current touch with all international commercial developments so as to be able to give its customers the latest and most complete available information.

It maintains indexes of foreign and domestic business houses, classified according to their international trade interests, and watches the course of commerce, with particular regard to the developing needs of other countries, and opportunities for the promotion of new lines.

It maintains a complete file concerning the import tariffs of other countries, trade regulations and restrictions, both import and export, and gives information regarding business procedure in other lands.

It is prepared to give advice on the formations of export associations under the Webb Law, and to assist in the organization of such associations when its assistance is desired.

The Bureau's comprehensive function is, by a general information service, to assist the American manufacturer in all lines in the development of new foreign business in all countries.
